The diagram illustrates the software skills required for the role, organized into two main categories: Design and Development. Each category is represented by a colored circle containing a list of software applications. The Design category is highlighted in light blue and includes Coreldraw and Adobe Photoshop. The Development category is highlighted in light orange and includes Wondershare Filmora and Adobe After Effect. At the bottom of the diagram, a series of arrows points to the right, followed by the word SWIPE in a blue box, indicating that the list of skills is not exhaustive and can be viewed by swiping.
